INTRODUCTION TO ENROLLMENT SECONDARY SCHOOL •••••

THE SCHOOL OF INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS AND MANAGEMENT

The School of International Business and Management is one of the largest faculties of our university with a long history, where there are more than 4,400 students. The School offers four disciplines including literature, economics, management, and engineering with complete talent cultivation system, which offers nine undergraduate majors, including Business English, International Economics and Trade, International Business, Cultural Industry Management, Hotel Management, Engineering Management, Software Engineering, Computer Science and Technology, and Financial Accounting Education.

The School is a national-level association director unit, with one research institute, two research centers, and three interdisciplinary research teams. The School has one of the strongest and most internationalized faculty teams in the university. Among the faculty members, 22% of them are professors, associate professors, and senior technical title teachers; 83% achieve master's or doctoral degrees. A great number of teachers have won the State Council Special Allowance, the Chongqing City Discipline Leader, the Master's Supervisor, the National Excellent Teacher, and the Chongqing Teaching Master Team, and most of them have overseas study or work experience.

The School follows the guidance of "highlighting the characteristics of new business and engineering disciplines and strengthening the construction of applied majors" to cultivate high-quality professional and technical personnel who meet the needs of regional economic and social development. The School has multiple industry-education integration bases and co-creation spaces, with an abundant new vocational training programmes to inspire university students' innovation, entrepreneurship, and improve high-quality employment. The School cooperates with large international and domestic companies to provide students with high-level employment opportunities; it also collaborates with enterprises to conduct professional practical skills training to ensure that students can successfully connect with entrepreneurship and employment after graduation. The School's employment rate has remained above 90% over the years.

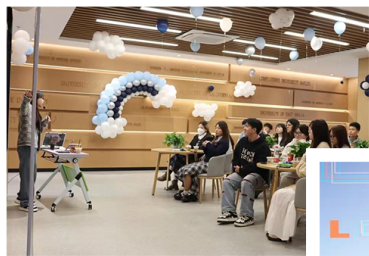

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS AND TRADE

International Economics and Trade is one of the most dynamic and eye-catching economic majors since China's reform and opening-up. This major cultivates students with systematic knowledge of international economics, international trade theory and practical skills, aiming to enhance students' professional core competency and expertise including the ability of English listening and speaking in international trade, communication skills of international business, analysis skills of international market, and operation skills of international trade. Students major in International Economics and Trade will possess high quality of comprehensive competency, strong professional abilities, and excellent vocational skills after graduation. They can thus work as interdisciplinary, compound, and innovative talents in international economic and trade departments, foreign-invested enterprises, and government agencies engaging in practical business, management, research, and promotion planning.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

The school of International Business aims to cultivate the all-round development of student. Students can systematically and effectively master the basic theories of modern economics and management, international business, transnational business management, business expertise, basic skills and application methods. Students should have a good command of international business management and international business culture, and be familiar with the economic and social circumstances of major countries and regions in the world. To adapt to the economic globalization and regional development, students will be competent in transnational operation, management and planning strategies, as well as listening, speaking, reading, writing and interpreting in foreign languages . Students can be engaged in business management, international trade and business activities planning in foreign-related government agencies, transnational corporations, international economic and trade enterprises, international logistics, etc.
